

An Empirical Analysis of the Relationship between Employment Growth and Entrepreneurial Activity

Bahram Adrangi , The University of Portland
Mary E. Allender, The University of Portland
Robin Anderson, The University of Portland

Abstract

This study investigates the role of entrepreneurial firms in employment creation and business expansion in several industries. Regression results validate the previous research findings that small entrepreneurial firms do have a net positive impact on new employment across all industries in the study. However, the magnitude of job creation may vary across industry types.